

Dear Teachers,

Welcome to the Rick Riordan Myths & Legends Resource Pack. Whether your students are fans of Rick Riordan's previous novels or have enjoyed the two Percy Jackson films or are looking for their next exciting read, this pack will help them to explore the latest adventure, which brings the gods, monsters and characters of Greek, Roman, Egyptian and Norse mythology vividly to life. It also allows students to be creative, whether in the classroom, in the library or at home.

WHAT IS COVERED IN THE PACK:

This pack is designed around encouraging students to read and respond to the text, offering opportunities for creative writing, research and group discussion.

The activities can be used independently or as a take-home task for students to complete as they read through the book, or could form the basis for a classroom activity. Where appropriate, each sheet highlights the chapters that are relevant to that activity.

SKILLS:

The skills that students will develop from this pack include: creative writing and composition, group discussion including listening and responding constructively, and retrieving and presenting information from non-fiction texts.

About Rick Riordan:

Before starting to write, Rick worked as a teacher, and got the idea for his Percy Jackson series of books from talking to his pupils and children about Greek mythology. The Percy Jackson books have since become some of the most popular titles for children in the last few years, and are being adapted as a series of films. Rick now concentrates on writing full-time and lives with his family in the USA.

WHICH CAMP?

To complete this pack, you can choose to represent one of four camps – Greek, Roman, Egyptian or Norse – mirroring the worlds of Rick Riordan’s electrifying series of books. In the Percy Jackson series, half-boy half-god hero Percy Jackson contests with the gods and monsters of Ancient Greece. In the explosive spin-off series, Heroes of Olympus and Trials of Apollo, we meet Percy’s Roman half-blood counterparts. Readers can find the gods of Ancient Egypt waking in the modern world in Rick Riordan’s third series, The Kane Chronicles. And the Norse gods are preparing for war in the fourth series, Magnus Chase.

If you have already enjoyed the novels, you can choose the camp that corresponds to your favourite Rick Riordan series. Or you can complete the quiz below to see which suits you best!

EVERY HERO NEEDS A WEAPON. WHAT’LL YOURS BE?

- A. A pen that’s a Celestial bronze sword. Surprise!
- B. A gold sword you can also throw a long, long way.
- C. A blade of metallic iron, aka Netjeri.
- D. A blade emblazoned with runes. Fancy.

IT’S FIELD TRIP TIME. WHERE WOULD YOU RATHER GO?

- A. To see the marble statues in the Metropolitan Museum of Modern Art.
- B. An amphitheatre.
- C. Cleopatra’s needle. Even though it’s less needle, more obelisk.
- D. Anywhere you can check out some longships.

SO, POLITICS. WHICH STYLE GETS YOUR VOTE?

- A. Everyone has a vote to decide what to do.
- B. Everyone votes for a representative; they call the shots.
- C. A king or queen rules the country.
- D. A leader appoints a commission to choose the best ones for the task.

FIGHTING WORKS UP AN APPETITE. YOU’LL ORDER?

- A. Ambrosia with a side of nectar.
- B. Pizza.
- C. Bread, meat and fruit for dessert.
- D. Meat. And throw in some goat’s milk mead.

IF YOU HAD TO FIGHT A DEADLY MONSTER, WHO WOULD YOU PICK?

- A. Half man, half bull. Make mine a Minotaur.
- B. Storm spirits that move like . . . well, like the wind.
- C. A beady eyed griffin.
- D. A serpent with a ridged forehead and tapered snout.

SO MANY BATTLES, NOT MUCH FREE TIME. HOBBIES?

- A. Discus.
- B. Chariot racing.
- C. Archery.
- D. Climbing mountains.

GREEK GODS

Extract from Percy Jackson & The Greek Gods

I hope I'm getting extra credit for this. A publisher in New York asked me to write down what I know about the Greek gods, and I was like, 'Can we do this anonymously? Because I don't need the Olympians mad at me again.'

But if it helps you to know your Greek gods, and survive an encounter with them if they ever show up in your face, then I guess writing all this down will be my good deed for the week.

If you don't know me, my name is Percy Jackson. I'm a modern-day demigod – a half-god, half-mortal son of Poseidon – but I'm not going to say much about myself. My story has already been written down in some books that are total fiction (wink, wink), and I am just a character from the story (cough – yeah, right – cough).

Just go easy on me while I'm telling you about the gods, all right? There's like forty bajillion different versions of the myths, so don't be all Well, I heard it a different way, so you're WRONG!

I'm going to tell you the versions that make the most sense to me. I promise I didn't make any of this up. I got all these stories straight from the Ancient Greek and Roman dudes who wrote them down in the first place.

Believe me, I couldn't make up stuff this weird.

So here we go. First I'll tell you how the world got made. Then I'll run down a list of gods and give you my two cents about each of them. I just hope I don't make them so mad they incinerate me before I –

AGGHHHHHHHHH!

Just kidding. Still here.

Anyway, I'll start with the Greek story of creation, which by the way is seriously messed up. Wear your safety glasses and your raincoat. There will be blood.

GREEK TEAM

Welcome to the Greek team! In the first series of books by Rick Riordan, Percy Jackson finds himself at Camp Half-Blood, a place for the children of the Greek gods. As the child of the sea god, Poseidon, Percy has great power at his disposal, but is also the target for a series of terrifying monsters. He sets out on a series of quests, together with his friends, to battle a rising force of evil and restore order amongst the arguing gods.

KNOW YOUR GREEK GODS

There were twelve gods on the Olympian council. Each was immortal, and had different symbols as well as different areas of power and control. The table below lists all of this information, but some of it is incomplete. Can you move the missing labels to the correct places?

If you need help, why not go to www.rickriordan.co.uk or consult The Demigod Files by Rick Riordan.

GOD/GODDESS	POWER	SYMBOL/ANIMAL
Zeus		Eagle, lightning bolt
Hera	Motherhood/marriages	Cow, lion, peacock
	Sea/earthquakes	Horse, trident
Demeter	Agriculture	Red poppy, barley
Hephaestus	Blacksmiths	Anvil, quail
Athena	Wisdom, battle, useful arts
	Love	Dove, magic belt
Ares		Wild boar, bloody spear
Apollo	Music, medicine, poetry, archery, bachelors	Mouse, lyre
Artemis	Maiden girls, hunting	She-bear
Hermes	Travellers, merchants, thieves, messengers
Dionysus		Tiger, grapes

Poseidon	war	Aphrodite	owl
sky	caduceus, winged helmet and sandals	wine

DISCUSSION

In the novels, Percy Jackson discovers he is the son of Poseidon, and that his fellow Camp Half-Blood friends are also the children of one of the gods and a mortal. Look again at the table on the page. If you could be the child of one of the gods, which would you pick? Discuss this as a group. Remember to listen to the opinions of others and to give your own.

GREEK LIFE

Religion and the gods were a very important part of Ancient Greek life, but there were many other interesting aspects to Ancient Greek culture. Working in pairs, pick one of the following areas to research, and create a factfile for your fellow group members.

- Ancient Greek architecture
- Agriculture in Ancient Greece
- The Olympic Games
- The Trojan War
- The Greek Theatre

HEROES

Percy Jackson is named after another famous Ancient Greek hero, Perseus. A child of Zeus, Perseus was sent on what was considered an impossible quest: to return with the head of Medusa. Just like Percy, Perseus was able to overcome the monster by only looking at her in the reflection of his shield, and succeeded in his quest.

There are a number of other important heroes in Greek mythology – some of the most important are listed below. Choose one of them and research their life and legends. Then create a social media profile for your chosen hero – remember to include a picture, as well as a list of interests. You could even create a friends list for your hero, based on what you have learned.

- Hercules
- Achilles
- Theseus
- Odysseus
- Jason
- Bellerophon
- Orpheus

DISCUSSION

The word 'hero' as we use it today was not the same in Ancient Greece. A hero today might be someone who is admired for the brave things that they do or for their good qualities of character, or someone who has done something heroic like putting themselves in danger to save someone else. Heroes in Greek times were a little different, and often performed their quests to help nobody except themselves, although they always showed strength, courage and quick-wittedness.

What do you think it means to be a hero? Discuss this as a group. Then think about who your greatest hero is, and tell the group about them. It might be someone famous, but it might also be someone close to home.

DESIGN YOUR FLAG

As representatives of Camp Half-Blood and the Greek team, you will be participating in a game of 'capture the flag'. First, you will need to design a flag for your team. You can use whichever colours or symbols you prefer – draw it into the worksheet on page 34.

LESSON 1: GODS AND DEMIGODS

Objectives: To interpret and analyse Rick Riordan's use of language; to conduct interviews with the gods (drama/role-play)

Lead-in tasks: Extract work

EXTRACT TASK 1

Read the extract text on the previous page

EXTRACT TASK 2 – COMPREHENSION QUESTIONS:

1. Who asked Percy to write this book?
2. Who is Percy's godly parent?
3. Where did Percy get the stories from?

EXTRACT TASK 3 – FIRST IMPRESSIONS OF PERCY:

Find examples in the introduction that show that Percy is:

- a) Funny b) Brave c) Sarcastic

EXTRACT TASK 4

If Percy Jackson was interviewed on the television, what do you think he'd be like in real life?

Brainstorm your ideas using the following headings:

- Appearance
- Voice
- Body Language
- Facial Expressions

EXTENSION TASK

Imagine you have just found out that, like Percy Jackson, you're a child of one of the Greek gods. Write a diary of the day you found out. How did you find out? How did it make you feel? Who have you told (if anyone)? What new powers might you have? What will you do now that you know? Which God is your parent?

TASK 1

Using the tables from page 5 of the pack, choose one of the Greek gods and imagine what they'd be like in the modern world. Make notes of the following:

- Appearance
- Voice
- Body Language
- Facial Expressions

TASK 2

Get into pairs and make sure that you have each chosen a different god. Interview each other and ask questions about each other's powers, likes and dislikes, and personality.

LESSON 2: MODERN GODS

Objectives: To create a modern-day god

TASK 1

Create an appropriate name for your own modern-day god using interesting nouns, verbs, adverbs or adjectives. Think about the names of the Greek gods for inspiration.

TASK 2

Complete a god profile for your character, using the template below.

Mugshot:	About me:
Gender:	Likes/Dislikes:
Birthplace:	Special features/Powers:
Occupation:
Strengths:
Weaknesses:
Appearance:

LESSON 3: MODERN MYTHS

Objectives: To plan and create a modern myth

Lead-in question: What things do you need to consider when you're writing a story or creating a myth? Carefully think about plot, setting, characters, etc.

TASK 1

Create a plan for a modern myth about your newly created god. It should include: a beginning, middle and ending; an interesting setting; a hero; and a monster.

THE QUEST: BEGINNING	THE QUEST: MIDDLE	THE QUEST: ENDING
SETTING	THE HERO	THE MONSTER

TASK 2

Have a go at writing your modern myth. When you have finished, cut out the story cards and match each card to a part in your story.

TASK 3

In groups, you can then pick the best story to transform into a drama and perform in front of the class.

REFLECTION QUESTIONS

1. What have you learned about Greek gods; Which is your favourite?
2. What sort of character is Percy Jackson? What are his personality traits?
3. If Percy had a Twitter profile or Facebook page, what do you think it would be like?
4. How is the Percy Jackson series similar or different to other books that you have read about young people of the same age?
5. Why do you think it is important to remind people of Greek mythology?

LESSON 4: EXTRACT & DISCUSSION

The monsters of Greek mythology were a terrifying bunch, for the most part. They ranged from dragons, demons and giants to multiformed creatures. One of the most famous was the minotaur, a deadly monster with the head of a bull who ate men. It was kept in the labyrinth in Knossos, but was eventually killed by Theseus. Percy also meets the minotaur, in this extract from Percy Jackson and the Lightning Thief.

Glancing back, I got my first clear look at the monster. He was seven feet tall, easy, his arms and legs looked like something from the cover of Muscle Man magazine – bulging biceps and triceps and a bunch of other ‘ceps, all stuffed like baseballs under vein-webbed skin. He wore no clothes except underwear – I mean, bright white Fruit-of-the-Looms, which would’ve been funny except for the top half of his body. Coarse brown hair started at about his bellybutton and got thicker as it reached his shoulders.

His neck was a mass of muscle and fur leading up to his enormous head, which had a snout as long as my arm, snotty nostrils with a gleaming glass ring, cruel black eyes, and horns – enormous black-and-white horns with points you just couldn’t get from an electric sharpener.

I recognized the monster, all right. He had once been in one of the first stories Mr Brunner told us. But he couldn’t be real.

I blinked the rain out of my eyes. ‘That’s –’
‘Pasiphae’s son,’ my mother said. ‘I wish I’d known how badly they wanted to kill you.’

‘But he’s a min–’

‘Don’t say his name,’ she warned. ‘Names have power.’

The pine tree was still way too far – a hundred metres uphill at least.

I glanced behind me again.

The bull-man hunched over our car, looking in the windows – or not looking exactly. More like snuffling, nuzzling.

I wasn’t sure why he bothered, since we were only about 15 metres away.

‘Food?’ Grover moaned.

‘Shhh,’ I told him. ‘Mom, what’s he doing? Doesn’t he see us?’

‘His sight and hearing are terrible,’ she said. ‘He goes by smell. But he’ll figure out where we are soon enough.’

As if on cue, the bull-man bellowed in rage. He picked up Gabe’s camaro by the torn roof, the chassis creaking and groaning. He raised the car over his head and threw it down the road. It slammed into the wet asphalt and skidded in a shower of sparks for about half a mile before coming to a stop. The gas tank exploded.

Not a scratch, I remembered Gabe saying.

Oops.

‘Percy,’ my mum said. ‘When he sees us, he’ll charge. Wait until the last second, then jump out of the way – directly sideways. He can't change direction very well once he's charging. Do you understand?'

'How do you know all this?'

'I've been worried about an attack for a long time. I should have expected this. I was selfish, keeping you near me.'

'Keeping me near you? But –'

Another bellow of rage, and the bull-man started tromping uphill.

He'd smelled us.

The pine tree was only a few more metres, but the hill was getting steeper and slicker, and Grover wasn't getting any lighter.

The bull-man closed in. Another few seconds and he'd be on top of us.

My mother must've been exhausted, but she shouldered Grover. 'Go Percy! Separate! Remember what I said.'

I didn't want to split up, but I had the feeling she was right – it was our only chance. I sprinted to the left, turned, and saw the creature bearing down on me. His black eyes glowed with hate. He reeked like rotten meat.

He lowered his head and charged, those razor-sharp horns aimed straight at my chest.

DISCUSSION

In this extract, the minotaur of classical mythology is transferred to a modern context. For example, he wears modern underwear, and has the strength to destroy a car. What qualities are still the same?

CAPTURE THE FLAG!

EXTRACT

Here is an extract from Percy Jackson and the Lightning Thief.

That night after dinner, there was a lot more excitement than usual.

At last, it was time for capture the flag.

When the plates were cleared away, the conch horn sounded and we all stood at our tables.

Campers yelled and cheered as Annabeth and two of her siblings ran into the pavilion carrying a silk banner. It was about three metres long, glistening grey, with a painting of a barn owl above an olive tree. From the opposite side of the pavilion, Clarisse and her buddies ran in with another banner, of identical size, but gaudy red, painted with a bloody spear and a boar's head.

I turned to Luke and yelled over the noise, 'Those are the flags?'

'Yeah.'

'Ares and Athena always lead the teams?'

'Not always,' he said. 'But often.'

'So, if another cabin captures one, what do you do – repaint the flag?'

He grinned. 'You'll see. First, we have to get one.'

'Capture the flag' is the game played regularly by the demigods at Camp Half-Blood. The different 'houses' form alliances, and students are heavily armed, using military tactics and fighting to capture one of two flags. Instead of a physical contest of capture the flag, as played in Camp Half-Blood, Athena the goddess of wisdom has set you a quest. In the following wordsearch, you will find the answers to all of the questions below. Complete the wordsearch as quickly as possible to capture the flag!

PERCY JACKSON

PERCY JACKSON AND THE LIGHTNING THIEF (BOOK 1)

Look, I didn't want to be a half-blood. I never asked to be the son of a Greek god. I was just a normal kid, going to school, playing basketball, skateboarding. The usual. Until I accidentally vaporized my maths teacher. That's when things started really going wrong. Now I spend my time fighting with swords, battling monsters with my friends, and generally trying to stay alive.

This is the one where Zeus, God of the Sky, thinks I've stolen his lightning bolt – and making Zeus angry is a very bad idea.

Can Percy find the lightning bolt before a fully fledged war of the gods erupts?

Also available as a graphic novel.

PERCY JACKSON AND THE SEA OF MONSTERS (BOOK 2)

You can't tell by looking at me that my dad is Poseidon, God of the Sea. It's not easy being a half-blood these days. You mortals can't even see the monsters we have to fight all the time. So when a game of dodgeball turned into a death match against an ugly gang of cannibal giants, I couldn't exactly ask my gym teacher for help.

And that was just for starters. This is the one where Camp Half-Blood is under attack, and unless I get my hands on the Golden Fleece, the whole camp will be invaded by monsters. Big ones.

Can Percy survive the treacherous Sea of Monsters and restore order to Half-Blood Hill?

Also available as a graphic novel.

PERCY JACKSON AND THE TITAN'S CURSE (BOOK 3)

It's not everyday you find yourself in hand-to-claw combat with a half-lion, half-human. But when you're the son of a Greek god, these things happen. All I was trying to do was to bring two new demigods back to camp. But the arrival of the mantichore changed everything. Now my friend Annabeth is missing, a goddess is in chains and the general of the Titans wants to unleash a tribe of skeleton warriors on the world.

This is the one where only five of us heroes can join the dangerous quest to defeat the doomsday monster – and our camp's oracle has predicted that not all of the chosen five will survive . . .

Can Percy save Annabeth – and the rest of the world – before the curse destroys him forever?

Also available as a graphic novel.

PERCY JACKSON AND THE BATTLE OF THE LABYRINTH (BOOK 4)

Honestly, blowing up another school was the last thing I wanted to do. As the son of a Greek god, I've had my share of near-death disaster. This summer, I didn't choose to battle the cheerleading squad, but when two hissing she-devils with fangs are heading straight for you, what's a half-blood meant to do?

That was just the beginning. This is the one where my arch-enemy, Luke, is looking for a way to invade our camp via an ancient labyrinth. If he succeeds, thousands of bloodthirsty monsters will attack. So it's goodbye sunshine, hello darkness as four of us descend into the terrifying underground and beyond . . .

Can Percy navigate his way out of trouble before Luke's army brings mass destruction to Camp Half-Blood?

PERCY JACKSON AND THE LAST OLYMPIAN (BOOK 5)

Most people get presents on their sixteenth birthday. I get a prophecy that could save or destroy the world.

That's how it is when you're the son of Poseidon, God of the Sea. According to an ancient prophecy, bad things will happen when I turn sixteen – because I'm the one who gets to decide the fate of the entire world. But no pressure.

This is the one where Kronos, Lord of the Titans, is beginning his attack on New York City, where Mount Olympus stands virtually unguarded. Oh, and the dreaded (and not to mention enormous) monster Typhon is also heading our way. So it's me and forty of my demigod friends versus untold evil . . .

Can Percy stop the rampage of the Titans, to save Olympus – and himself?

PERCY JACKSON AND THE GREEK GODS

If you like horror shows, bloodbaths, lying, stealing, backstabbing and cannibalism then read on . . .

Who could tell the stories of the gods of Olympus better than a modern-day demigod? In this whirlwind tour of Greek mythology, Percy Jackson gives his personal take on the gods and goddesses of Ancient Greece and reveals the truth about how they came to rule the world.
